

December

2009

Lucy, our Gray Fronted Amazon eating an animal cracker.

Snuggled in for the Winter

Wilbur and Orville are snuggled up for a warm nap in the hay.

PAW PRINTS

Cub Creek Science Camp
HAPPY HOLIDAYS TO YOU!

Habitat Renovation Complete

The Habitat area has a new look. All 7 of the enclosures have twice the amount of indoor space for the animals to roam around in. Our carpenter crew built many ledges and houses for the animals to climb and sleep on. The animals really seem to be enjoying them. We moved Charmin and Zeph the Red Tail Boas into a room. They love the window.

Meeko is a great Dad

The new baby marmoset, Mocha is doing well. His parents, Miley and Meeko, take good care of him and are very protective. He will jump off of them now and then to explore a little but never gets too far away.

Animal Auction

New, Yellow Throated Plated Lizard! Lori came home with a pair of new Lizards that we are calling Lancelot and Guinevere. They are very interesting. They originate from Southern Africa and are very calm and easy to tame. When they mate which is only once a summer, the male's head will change colors from flaming red to blue. We are happy to have them join the Ranch Family.

Registrations are pouring in . We will start closing cabins because they are full and then choices will be limited. Register now before the end of the year to make sure you get the session that you want. Call 573-458-2125 or go online to www.BearRiverRanch.com to register.